The pressure here, while relatively light, is enough to keep the paper drums from floor to wall attachment points at 6'.

The pressure here, while relatively light, is enough to keep the paper drums in intermittent clusters and move across the installation bridge in waves. This will be surrounded by a low density chattering of voices heard from the paper speakers.